THE SECOND PART Of the LOYAL LETANY.

THat it may pleaſe Thee to decree
Our Wiſhes may compleated be
We pray'd for in the Letany.

Queſumus te Domine.

That it may pleaſe Thee to diſown
The Plots and Prayers of every one
Who ſeek thy Annointed to de-Throne.

Queſumus, &c.

That it may pleaſe Thee to prevent
All ſuch to Sit in Parliament,
Who did the Excluſive Bill invent.

Queſumus, &c.

That it may pleaſe Thee to debar
All thoſe who would foment a War,
And of a B------d make an Heir.

Queſumus, &c.

That it may pleaſe Thee to ſee good
To Puniſh thoſe who lately wou'd
Have waſh'd their Hands in Charles's Blood.

Queſumus, &c.

That it may pleaſe Thee to Diſplay
Their Cants and Cheats who do Betray
And lead thy Choſen Flock Aſtray.

Queſumus, &c.

That it may pleaſe Thee to Diſdain
And render all their Prayers in Vain,
Who make their Godlineſs their Gain.

Queſumus, &c.

That it may pleaſe Thee in good time
The Heads of Otes and Prance may Climb
To Rouſe's Pole,-----we want a Rhyme.

Queſumus, &c.

That it may pleaſe Thee to Confute
And ſtrike them Dumb who dare diſpute
('gainſt Law) for Pi----ton and S---te.

Queſumus, &c.

That it may pleaſe Thee O that we
May ne'er again be ſhamm'd to ſee
An Army Rais'd Inviſibly

Queſumus, &c.

That it may pleaſe Thee theſe our Eyes
May ne'er behold in woful wiſe
Our Murdered Corps, when next we Riſe.

Queſumus, &c.

That it may pleaſe Thee for to Grant
We ne'er a Scotiſh Whigg may want,
To teach us when we are Hang'd to Cant.

Queſumus, &c.

That it may pleaſe Thee to deliver
Us from thoſe that would endeavour
The King and Parliament to Sever.

Queſumus, &c.

That it may pleaſe Thee to Increaſe
In Englands Boſom Wealth and Peace:
And may it never never Ceaſe.

Queſumus, &c.

That it may pleaſe Thee to diſpence
Thy beſt and kindeſt Influence
Upon the Head of James our Prince.

Queſumus, &c.

That it may pleaſe Thee to Defend
'gainſt ſecret Foe and flattering Friend,
His Life and Crown, World without End.

Queſumus te Domine.
